Some may feel that their coordination is affected in a negative way while others have memory problems.

I don’t have kids and I usually skip over the kid-themed articles, but I found your comment to be insensitive, even if you were only joking.